

DISTRICT 12TH

The richest 10% of the global population holds up to 40% of the world's income, while the poorest 10% earns only between 2% and 7%. Additionally, in 18 countries, husbands can legally prevent their wives from working; in 39 countries, daughters and sons do not have equal inheritance rights; and in 49 countries, there are no laws protecting women from domestic violence.

What World Do You Want in 2030?

WHAT

We create and showcase various forms of expression, such as murals, photographic exhibitions, games, fundraising events, interactive installations, and short films, that promote gender equality and reduce inequities, in line with SDGs 10 and 5. Each piece aims to inspire empathy, solidarity, and hope, positively impacting society and fostering change in discriminatory attitudes while supporting foundations that make a difference in our community.

HOW

Divided into various roles, we use our talents to highlight both equity and inequity, raising awareness and promoting a shift towards more inclusive coexistence. We create experiences that reflect local and international realities regarding gender equality and the reduction of inequalities, in line with the UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). Our goal is to empower communities and support friendly foundations by generating reflection and collective action to build a fairer and more equitable society, in tune with the global sustainable development agenda.

WHY

Our vision is to create a more equitable and just world, where kindness and equality serve as the fundamental pillars of our society. We believe in the importance of valuing the dignity and potential of every human being, regardless of their background, gender, or circumstances. Our motivation lies in inspiring people to discover the kindness that resides deep within their hearts, even amidst injustice and discrimination.

Call to Adventure

In District 12, it was a sunny and exciting day when the seventh-grade students arrived for their first day of school. The teacher, with a smile on her face, announced that this year would be different. They were about to embark on an incredible mission to change the world! Their project was called "Work for the World," and the goal was to build a magical City of Equality where everyone would be treated fairly.

Meeting with the Mentor

Just when they thought everything was normal, Mr. Change Maker appeared, a colorful and extravagant superhero who unleashed a whirlwind of positive energy in the classroom and bestowed upon them the gift of moving through space and time. With his cape flowing and a contagious laugh, he took them on a journey to New Delhi, where they were about to experience firsthand the hardships of inequity. But not everything would be so easy; they would have to work as a team, earn rupees, and face challenges that would test their courage and kindness.

Tests and Enemies

In their travels, the citizens of District 12 realized that together they were stronger. They began to create roles in the construction of their City of Equality: some became Ecomakers, others became Accountants, and some turned into Storytellers. With each task they completed, they gathered ideas and skills that brought them closer to their goal. They organized a spectacular event called "Color My Rights," where they invited their families and friends to share their achievements. With laughter, colors, and music, they celebrated the beauty of diversity and the strength of the community.

Return with the Elixir

The culmination of their adventure was a great festival filled with love and solidarity. Every citizen showcased their work, highlighting the importance of respecting and helping one another. At the end of the event, they understood that true magic lies in kindness and that, by joining forces, they could overcome any challenge. The City of Equality was more than just a dream; it was a reality created by themselves. And so, they bid farewell to their adventure, ready to continue fighting for a more equitable world, knowing that only kindness could help them address the challenges of inequality and build a better future for all.

DESIGN CYCLE

Materialize

Understand

Explore

Each challenge we faced has taught us lessons about empathy and the importance of teamwork. We will make our commitment to being agents of change visible, ready to continue fighting for a fairer and more equitable world, knowing that together we can face any challenge and build a better future for all thanks to the transformative power of kindness.

